What does not constitute a "genuine, identifiable contribution"?

• What (if any) categories of potential contributions would you add?

• Would you add, remove, or change anything?
