Citations

- It should always be really clear to your reader where an idea/result/concept comes from - is it yours? is it somebody else's? if not yours, whose?

- Never cite a source that you haven't checked yourself!

- Two types of citations:

- Parenthetical: e.g. "…(Schuppli et al. 2016)", or "…[1]"

- Narrative: e.g. "Schuppli et al. (2016) showed that…"

- Reference list at the end:

- Schuppli C, Forss SIF, Meulman EJM, Zweifel N, Lee KC, Rukmana E, Vogel ER, van Noordwijk MA, van Schaik CP. 2016. Development of foraging skills in two orangutan populations: needing to learn or needing to grow? Front Zool 13:43. doi:10.1186/s12983-016-0178-5

- Check requirements of target journal / instructor; be consistent

- Consider using a Reference Manager (ex. Zotero, Endnote)

Citations

- It should always be really clear to your reader where an idea/result/concept comes from - is it yours? is it somebody else's? if not yours, whose?

- Never cite a source that you haven't checked yourself!

- Two types of citations:

  - Parenthetical: e.g. "…(Schuppli et al. 2016)", or "…[1]"

  - Narrative: e.g. "Schuppli et al. (2016) showed that…"

- Reference list at the end:

  - Schuppli C, Forss SIF, Meulman EJM, Zweifel N, Lee KC, Rukmana E, Vogel ER, van Noordwijk MA, van Schaik CP. 2016. Development of foraging skills in two orangutan populations: needing to learn or needing to grow? Front Zool 13:43. doi:10.1186/s12983-016-0178-5

- Check requirements of target journal / instructor; be consistent

- Consider using a Reference Manager (ex. Zotero, Endnote)

THE JOURNAL WANTING A DIFFERENT CITATION STYLE

YOUR FINISHED PAPER